

Michael P. Chu, of Brinks Hofer Gilson & Lione and an honorary director of the Asian American Bar Association of the Greater Chicago Area (left), and Gustavo Siller, Jr., of Brinks (center), accept an award on behalf of the firm. It's presented by Jessica Arong O'Brien, outgoing president of AABA (right).

Chris Wilson, managing partner of Perkins Coie's Chicago office (third from the left), and Judge Ann Claire Williams (third from the right) pose with Chicago high school students at a Just The Beginning Foundation program at the firm.

Above: (from left to right) John Power, of Cogan & McNabola, Dr. Martin Marcus, football legend Mel Gray, Michael Cogan, of Cogan & McNabola, and Josh Cogan attend the Special Kids Network's 10th annual golf tournament. Below: Just The Beginning Foundation's 2009 Summer Legal Institute at Brinks Hofer Gilson & Lione. (Left to right): Rather Stanton, of Just The Beginning Foundation; Michael Marchant, and Patryce Denson, both of Accenture Legal Group; and attorneys Robert Summers and Danielle Phillip, and summer associate Raquel Rodriguez, all of Brinks.

(Left to right): Arnstein & Lehr's 2009 Woman of Vision Award luncheon. Anne Pramaggiore, president and COO of ComEd (2009 Woman of Vision Award recipient); Cynde Hirschtick Munzer, of Arnstein & Lehr; and Monica Weed, of Navigant Consulting.

Left: The American Constitution Society Chicago Lawyer Chapter hosts "Making the Best of a Massey Situation: Judicial Disqualification, Due Process and the Supreme Court," a discussion of the recent Caperton v. A.T. Massey Coal Co. case, led by Charles Geyh, of Indiana University Maurer School of Law, and Andrew Frey, of Mayer Brown, and an attorney for the respondents in the case (on the screen).

Below: Attorneys Christine Svenson (left) and Daliah Saper (right) host "Drinks and Design on the Deck," which Svenson Law Offices and Saper Law Offices have organized.

Left: "Judicial Perspective," presented by the Illinois Judges Association, is featuring Illinois Supreme Court Chief Justice Thomas R. Fitzgerald (right), and Judge Michael B. Hyman (left), conducts the one-on-one interview.