2006 Winners: “Addressing Inequality, Moving Toward a More Just Society”

Winner
The Government’s Categorical Revocation of the Voting Rights of the Mentally Disabled: A Call to Replace Overinclusive State Laws with an Individuated Test
- Stephanie J. Benedetto, Emory University

Runners-Up
A Child’s Right: What Should the State be Required to Provide to Teenagers Aging Out of Foster Care?
- Katherine M. Swift, University of Chicago

Nonjusticiable and Irremediable: Partisan Gerrymandering’s Attack on our Representative Democracy
- Evan Parness, Cornell University

Other Finalists
A Role for Courts in Reparations
- Zachary Bookman, Yale University

Failure to Reinstate as an Independent Claim Under the Americans with Disabilities Act
- Kristie Blunt, University of Pennsylvania

The Unconstitutional Digital Divide: The Right to Receive Information the Children’s Internet Protection Act and America’s Poor
- Mary Ashby Brown, American University

Landell v. Sorrell, The First Amendment and Limits to Campaign Spending: Is there an Equality Interest?
- Lara Rabiee, CUNY

Indian Law and the Problem of History: Orality as Evidence
- Allison Sheedy, University of Pennsylvania

Back | 2005 Winners | 2007 Winners